Information to be Provided	Information Provided by CDF
----------------------------	-----------------------------

The interest rates are determined by reference to the investment goals of Armidale Diocesan Investment Group, the interest rates offered by Australian deposit taking institutions, the amount of funds held for investment, the interest rates offered on funds invested by Armidale Diocesan Investment Group and other relevant factors.

Money can only be withdrawn upon 31 or more days' notice, and then only to an account at an authorised deposit-taking institution which is in the name of the account holder.

If a person opens the product as a perpetual debenture, it can be converted to a term saver by notice to Armidale Diocesan Investment Group of the selected term period. The perpetual debenture account will be used as the basis of differently branded accounts for marketing purposes such as Bonus Saver and Premium Saver accounts.

'Term saver' style product

This product is offered with a term of 3, 6, 12, 18 or 24 months. Interest is paid twice yearly (and on maturity). The interest rates are determined by reference to the investment goals of Armidale Diocesan Investment Group, the interest rates offered by Australian deposit taking institutions, the amount of funds held for investment, the interest rates offered on funds invested by Armidale Diocesan Investment Group and other relevant factors. It is expected the interest rate for the 'term saver' style product will be higher than that for the perpetual debenture account types.

The holder of the product can only withdraw their money midterm in cases of hardship, and money can only be transferred to an authorised deposit-taking institution which is in the name of the account holder.

If a person opens the product as a term saver, then if the holder doesn't select a new term saver period by the end of the term, it will automatically rollover into a further term of equivalent length to the last-selected term. A customer may also, at the end of a term, elect to convert to a perpetual debenture with withdrawals on 31 days' notice.

'Transaction account' style product

This product is only offered to wholesale clients, and retail, associated clients. As per the Instrument, it will not be offered to retail, non-associated clients because it will amount to a short-term investment product, as withdrawals may be made immediately by notice.

Interest rates for transaction accounts are determined by reference to RBA official rates in conjunction with comparison to similar at call accounts offered by Australian deposit taking institutions along with the amount of funds held for investment. These rates are significantly lower than those offered for longer term investments. There are no fees and charges for transaction accounts.
